The Universal Engine Manual that came with the Ericson says I have engine model #5432 aka #M-40. Further this manual says I have a Hurth transmission, model # HBW-100, and that the reduction ratio is 2:1. In checking with two engine, transmission shops affiliated with Universal they both say the reduction ratio is 1.8:1 for this engine (5432 ...

Hurth/ZF 100 gearbox seal replacement The hurth/ZF 100 gearbox fitted to my Perkins 4108 has a slow leak. Although I can't identify the exact source, the fact that the oil absorbing pad underneath the engine has a red speckle over it suggests that it is the rear seal with oil being sprayed out, rather than a drip (?). How difficult is it to ...

It looks like the clutch cones on our zf10m gearbox have gone. Given that the gearbox is 27 years old, it might be that replacing the gearbox in toto is a sensible option. The latest version of the zf10m has a 2.05 ratio on forward, compared with the 1.86 on ours. If I just fit the new box, with no other changes, will this be ok. I have a darglow max prop fitted.

These high quality marine gears will directly replace a Hurth HBW 50, HBW 100, or ZF5, ZF10 transmission. Just unbolt your old transmission, and bolt this one in it?s place. Unlike Hurth / ZF transmissions that use multi disc clutches, this Technodrive gear uses a simple cone clutch. This makes them VERY reliable, robust, and trouble free.
