The University of Central Asia is an internationally chartered not-for-profit secular institution which was established in 2000. It was formed as a partnership between the governments of Kazakhstan, the Kyrgyzstan and Tajikistan under the sponsorship of the Aga Khan Development Network (AKDN).

The transformation of Central Asia: Implications for ...

Luong and her colleagues challenge basic assumptions said to have guided earlier studies of Central Asia: that the Soviet system only superficially penetrated traditional cultural norms and organizations, that Islam was a force waiting to be unleashed, and that the Central Asian republics were more colonies than an integral part of the Soviet Union.

The Transformation of Central Asia: States and Societies ...

Experts on Central Asia here examine the emerging relationship between state actors and social forces in the region. Through the
